UNE Authors

What are your professors publishing?

Your faculty teach classes of course, but also do research, write books and articles, and provide service to the UNE community and beyond. Here's a sampling of some of the newest books from UNE faculty:

Calunga and the Legacy of an African Language in Brazil (University of New Mexico Press, 2012) by Stephen Byrd describes and analyzes the Afro- Brazilian speech community of Calunga, in Minas Gerais.

The Role of the American Board in the World: Bicentennial Reflections on the Organization's Missionary Work, 1810–2010 (Wipf and Stock, 2012) by Paul Burlin is about the work of the ABCFM, America's largest and most influential missionary organization in the 19th century.

Islam and America: Building a Future without Prejudice (Rowman & Littlefield, 2011) by Anouar Majid argues that the current animosity between the U.S. and Muslim world should be understood through the often-overlooked history between the two.

Principles of the Human Genome and Pharmacogenomics (American Pharmacists Association, 2011) by Daniel Brazeau and Gayle Brazeau introduces students and practitioners to principles of human genetics and genomics that they can apply in managing their patients' medication therapy.

To find more books by UNE faculty authors: from library homepage -- About the Library -- What's New at the Library -- UNE Books. Or, search by author name in the Library Catalog.

To find articles written by your professors, search their name in a database such as Scopus or Proquest Central.

Or you can just ask them!

Downton Abbey - DVD Seasons 1,2,3

Downton Abbey is the most-watched PBS "Masterpiece" series ever produced. A costume drama set in the fictional British country estate of Downton Abbey during the reign of King George V, the show follows the aristocratic Crawley family, headed by the Earl and Countess of Grantham, and their servants against the backdrop of historically important events, such as the sinking of the Titanic, the outbreak of World War I and the Spanish influenza pandemic. As the Portland Press Herald states, "Turns out we Americans are daft for 'Downton,' the addictive English period piece about inheritance, class and position" (Go section 1/3/13).

Seasons 1 & 2 are available at the Library; Season 3 just started to air on PBS on Sundays at 9 pm, and will be available on DVD in late January at the Library.
